CONTENTS OF VOLUME 7

ARTICLES

Akhtar, M. A.	The "classical dichotomy" in Ricardian economics	299
Blaug, Mark	Kuhn versus Lakatos or paradigms versus research programmes in the history of economics	399
Bordo, Michael David	John E. Cairnes on the effects of the Australian gold discoveries, 1851–73: an early application of the methodology of positive economics	337
Bronfenbrenner, Martin	Inflation theories of the SCAP period	137
Burghardt, Jr.	A quantitative study of the breakdown and resurrection of the monetary tradition in economics	360
Coats, A. W.	Adam Smith's conception of self-interest in economic and political affairs	132
Corry, Bernard A.	Should economists abandon HOPE?	252
Ben-David, Joseph	Innovations and their recognition in social science	434
Deutsch, Karl W.	The development of communication theory in political science	482
Foley, Vernard	Smith and the Greeks: a reply to Professor McNulty's comments	379
Gelting, Jørgen H.	Some observations on the financing of public activity	36
Hansen, Bent	Introduction to Jørgen Gelting's "Some observations on the financing of public activity"	32
Henderson, David R.	See Prime, Michael G.	115
Horowitz, Daniel	Textbook models of American economic growth, 1837–1911	227
Jalladeau, Joël	The methodological conversion of John Bates Clark	209
Jones, Lonnie L.	See Simpson, James R.

Koot, Gerard M.	T. E. Cliffe Leslie, Irish social reform, and the origins of the English historical school of economics	312
Landreth, Harry	The economic thought of Bernard Mandeville	193
Luttrell, Clifton B.	Thomas Jefferson on money and banking: disciple of David Hume and forerunner of some modern monetary views	156
McNulty, Paul J.	A note on the division of labor in Plato and Smith	372
Mullins, Nicholas C.	New causal theory: an elite specialty in social science	499
O'Driscoll, Jr., Gerald P.	The specialization gap and the Ricardo effect: comment on Ferguson	261
Prime, Michael G., and David R. Henderson	Schumpeter on preserving private enterprise	293
Rives, Norfleet W.	On the history of the mathematical theory of games	549
Rosenberg, Nathan	Problems in the economist's conceptualization of technological innovation	456
Salant, Walter S.	Introduction to William A. Salant's "Taxes, the multiplier, and the inflationary gap"	3
Salant, William A.	Taxes, the multiplier and the inflationary gap	19
———	The balanced-budget multiplier as the sum of an infinite series	28
Samuelson, Paul A.	The balanced-budget multiplier: a case study in the sociology and psychology of scientific discovery	43
Sandelin, Bo	The Wicksell effect, Dewey, and others: a note	123
Schwartz, Pedro	Teaching the history of economic thought: report of a symposium at Bristol, 1973	112
Schweitzer, Arthur	Frank Knight's social economics	279
Simpson, James R., and Lonnie L. Jones	Note: the progress of the econometric movement	273

Thompson, James H.	Mill's fourth fundamental proposition: a paradox	174
Tullberg, Rita McW.	Marshall's "tendency to socialism"	75
Wang, Ton-eng	Reply	276
Weintraub, E. Roy	Uncertainty and the Keynesian Revolution	530
Wilson, George W.	The economics of the just price	56
Wolff, Richard D.	Communication on Marxism and marginalism	270

BOOKS REVIEWED

Glacken, Clarence J., Traces on the Rhodian Shore: Nature and Culture in Western Thought from Ancient Times to the End of the Eighteenth Century (Herman E. Daly) 390

Blaug, Mark, The Cambridge Revolution: Success or Failure? (Daniel R. Fusfeld) 566

Mini, Piero V., Philosophy and Economics (Royall Brandis) 568

Passmore, John, Man's Responsibility for Nature: Ecological Problems and Western Traditions (Harold Wolozin) 392